In the 1880s, 17,000 Chinese pioneers from Guangdong Province, China, came to Canada and played a crucial role in constructing the Canadian Pacific Railway, the first transcontinental railroad. Tragically, 4,000 Chinese railroad workers lost their lives due to unsafe working conditions, landslides, and premature dynamite blasts. Since 1989, the Foundation to Commemorate the Chinese Railroad Workers in Canada has held an annual memorial wreath-laying ceremony at the downtown monument to honour and pay tribute to them.
